

— THE INSTITUTE FOR — GLOBAL LEADERSHIP

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE
March 31, 2022

Contact: Allison Chisolm 508-856-7207
chisolm@choicewordsonline.com

Series to Support Building Civic Bridges Act (HR 6843) in partnership with Listenfirstproject.org and America Talks
National Conversation Week Sessions scheduled April 4 or 24; April 25 and April 27

Sessions facilitated using America’s Soul Community Visioning Framework and hosting partner Institute for Global Leadership

Worcester, Mass. – A three-part series to support healing from the country’s current polarization on both a personal and legislative level will be hosted by America’s Soul Community as part of the Listenfirstproject, America Talks and National Conversation Week in April. Sessions will be held April 4 from 7 to 8:30 p.m. EDT, April 24 from 3 to 5 p.m. and then April 25 and 27 from 6 to 8 p.m.

Participants in the online workshops will learn more about the bipartisan Building Civic Bridges Act \(HR 6843\), proposed in February in the U.S. House of Representatives to establish the Office of Civic Bridgebuilding to forge a sense of common civic purpose through activities that strengthen relationships across lines of difference, solve community problems and diminish polarization. Attendees will undertake a series of visioning exercises illustrating their individual and communal dreams of a re-united nation through the passage of this bill, followed by a timeline and action plan to realize their dreams.

“America needs the Building Civic Bridges Act. To support its enactment, we will use a strategic visioning process we call imaging. It plays a key role in resolving challenges in our community,” said Virginia Swain, founder and director of the Institute for Global Leadership. “We believe we cannot resolve a challenge at the level it was created, but we can imagine finding a solution in the future. Once we ‘see’ a solution in our mind’s eye, we can work backwards into present time to identify the steps needed to achieve that ideal.

The Institute is a hosting partner for America Talks, National Conversation Week and a partner of the ListenFirstProject.org and the national Trust Network. A summary of the three-workshop series and registration link for the April 4 workshop can be found here. Register for the April 24 workshop here; the April 25 workshop here; and the April 27 workshop here.

The Institute for Global Leadership is also sponsoring two more workshops through America Talks:

Thursday, April 28: Introduction to Reconciliation Leadership from 12 to 1 p.m. Register here.

Friday, April 29: Book Talk: My Soul’s Journey to Redefine Leadership: A Phoenix Rises from the Ashes of 9/11 from 11 a.m. to noon. Register here.

Background:

A public engagement project of the Worcester-based Institute for Global Leadership, “America’s Soul Community” has been gathering virtually since 2017 for monthly constructive dialogues designed to empower participants to build a community of hope, political will and a new leadership model for America.

The focused and intentional discussions are called dialogues and are hosted by trained volunteer moderators using the World Café format on Zoom, allowing for video chat rooms and screen sharing. Participants meet in the large group and break into small groups, rotating among the virtual tables to address a series of questions in conversations that are then “harvested” for common themes. The monthly events attract participants from across the United States and abroad who have an investment in America’s future.

Dialogue is a deeper conversation that engages personal, business, and organizational life, according to Swain. America's Soul Community meetings are natural and effective ways to host meaningful conversations that awaken collective wisdom and engage collaborative action. These events offer effective antidotes to the fast-paced fragmentation and lack of connection in today's world.

“It's time to step back and revision our country,” Swain says. She sees America Soul Community events as “respectful and celebratory ways to heal historic conflict patterns in the US as well as address the needs of America's disenfranchised.”

Through America’s Soul Community, the Institute for Global Leadership builds on a process of redefining leadership developed at the United Nations over 30 years called Reconciliation Leadership now focused on American leadership. This process is articulated in Swain’s latest published work, My Soul’s Journey to Redefine Leadership: A New Phoenix Rises from the Ashes of 9/11 (Xlibris 2017).

The team for the workshop series to support the Building Civic Bridges Act includes:

- Reconciliation Leader Krista M. Conlon, a software engineer manager for Wells Fargo who lives on Long Island, New York. More here.
- Robert Kauffman, an architect who lives in Atlanta, Georgia. More here.
- Sonrisa O’Toole, a mental health provider who lives in Nashua, New Hampshire. For here.
- Lisa Singh, an organization development consultant, mediator, and coach. For more.
- Reconciliation Leader Virginia Swain, is with the Friends Committee on National Legislation, is a career and life direction coach, mediator and leadership consultant who lives in Worcester, MA. More here.

#

More on the Institute for Global Leadership and Virginia Swain’s life’s work can be found at www.global-leader.org.